SAM HARRIS WINS NEW MADRID VOTE FOR SHERIFF

New Madrid, November 9.—Voters turned out here Tuesday to add another victory mark in the Democratic column by giving Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt the entire ticket, including, all county officers, a majority which, on the basis of incomplete returns, is expected to reach 3000 votes. Between 10,000 and 11,000 votes were cast, but returns were available today from only 14 of the 28 precincts.

The sheriff's race was a criterion for other offices, County officials said. Sam Harris, Democrat, rolled up 4582 votes to 2722 for W. E. Denton, Republican, in the 14 precincts.

Many of the precincts were slow in reporting their returns and it was expected that it would be late in the day before complete returns were available. The vote was heavier than usual.

Democratic candidates elected to office in New Madrid County were: Representative, J. S. Wallace; County judge, first district, Elon Proffer; County Judge, second district, O. R. Rhodes; prosecuting attorney, James V. Conran; Sheriff, Sam Harris; assessor, Will Moylan; treasurer, J. K. Robbins; surveyor, W. E. Davis; public administrator, G. F. Deane; coroner, L. A. ### M. E. RADCLIFFE OF MATTHEWS DIES

Erastus Marion Radcliffe, aged 71 years, 10 months and 16 days, died Sunday night, after a prolonged illness, and was laid to rest Wednesday afternoon. He was born in Clark County, Ind., but has made his home in Southeast Missouri near Matthews for many years.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Matthews of East Prairie at the Christian church Wednesday afternoon for M. E. Radcliffe, who passed away Sunday evening, at his home three miles west of this place, after a lingering illness of several weeks. Interment in the Memorial Park, Sikeston. This community feels that they have lost a fine citizen, a true friend and supporter to all that was good and uplifting.

This fine family has lost a kind father and grandfather, a loving and devoted husband, who has the sincere sympathy of all who know them.

Three Local Youths Confess Sterling Store Robbery Here

Three Sikeston boys, Rex Lambert, 15; Max Reed and Tom Lancaster confessed Monday night and Tuesday this week to the robbery of the Sterling Store here late Saturday night or Sunday morning. Lambert, who was employed at the Store and Reed are directly implicated, while Lancaster merely received a "cut" of the loot as hush money.

As reported exclusively in Sikeston last Monday by The Standard, burglars gained entrance to the office of the variety store thru the Armory which connects with the Sterling wareroom upstairs, and then worked the combination on the safe and made their escape with $420 in currency.

Search Sunday afternoon found two sacks containing $83 in silver cached in the Armory, and a quantity of checks which had been discarded by the boys. The checks totaled about $140.

A train of connected circumstances led to the arrest late Sunday night of a young man who had spent the week-end visiting his mother and lady friend here. He was held for questioning, but was released the following day.

Sgt. Reed Finds Clue
Rufus Reed, sergeant in Troop E, State Highway Patrol, deserves credit in solving the case. It was Reed who uncovered additional evidence which eventually led to a confession, and recovery of the major portion of the stolen money.

The conversation of a number of Sikeston boys four months ago, regarding the ease with which Sterlings could be "knocked over" was recalled. Max Reed, a nephew of the patrol sergeant, and Rex Lambert were named as two of the boys. This plus a strong "hunch" led to the arrest of Lambert Monday night. After he confessed, Lancaster and Reed were picked up and jailed, one in New Madrid and one in Benton for further questioning.

A combined story of the several confessions was pieced together by officers. Lambert, it seems, needed money badly and had often approached Reed with the suggestion of robbery. About two weeks ago, he and Reed obtained a quantity of cigarettes from the store, entering through the armory after Lambert had had a key made for the door. A. J. Slayton, Sterling Store manager, placed a special hasp and lock on the ware room door following that affair, however, necessitating a new method of approach.

The boys finally agreed that Lambert open the Armory door, that both entered the office of Sterlings, and that Lambert opened the safe. He had previously stolen the combination from the purse of the cashier, Miss Guinever Eubank. Reed, he insisted, actually removed the money bags from the safe, after which both boys carried their "swag" upstairs, separated checks, silver and bills, and made their getaway.

The loot was split three ways, probably four if other factors come to light. Rex received $125, Max received $162, and Lancaster took $25 as his part for saying nothing. Tom had spent $15 for shoes, a sweater and hat, but agreed to make good that amount. Max had given $30 of his part to his wife, who returned $26, and $132 was hidden for Reed by Lancaster. Officers are still working on the case to determine the whereabouts of approximately $105 still missing, according to the figures of Mr. Slayton.

R. E. Stewart, special agent with the Frisco railroad, rendered valuable assistance in taking finger prints, and in conducting the investigation.

Democrats Sweep State

Missouri Sends Delegation of 13 Democrats to House—Four Republicans Lose Seats.

A Leader's Summary

Listeners to The Sikeston Standard's broadcast of National, State and County election returns heard the following stinging rebuke issued by Gifford Pinchot, governor of Pennsylvania: "Republican leaders asked for defeat and they got it. They were warned that Hoover's renomination meant disaster, but Wall Street and power insisted and the leaders listened to their master's voice. Tonight they are reaping exactly what they sowed. This overturn is the revolt of Republican rank and file against blind and selfish leadership which betrayed the people to serve concentrated wealth".

The National, State and County Democratic tickets were swept into office by the political upheaval Tuesday.

Franklin D. Roosevelt and John Nance Garner were elected President and Vice-President in the landslide even more devastating to Republican hopes than that which carried Al Smith to defeat in 1928.

The Count Wednesday afternoon placed only 59 electoral votes in the Hoover-Curtis column. They were garnered from the eastern States of Maine, Vermont, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania and Delaware.

The Roosevelt ticket appeared to have carried the remaining 42 States with 472 electoral votes.

Scott Hands Demos Majority of 4500

A clean sweep from the presidential race to the constable's contest was registered Tuesday by Scott County Democratic voters, who returned a majority of 4500 for the ticket.

There were no contests on the ticket wory of mention. The one race which caused considerable comment in the county, between Joe Anderson and Frank W. Van Horne running on the Democratic and Republican tickets, respectively, for the office of sheriff, ended as did all other races—Anderson won hands down, polling a vote of 5898 to 3379 for Van Horne. The latter carried his home ward.

NEWS PAPER MAGIC TURNS STOVE INTO BIG HOUSE
Bill Warren is convinced that Standard wantads not only pull, but that someone in the newspaper office is a magician of the first order. Warren offered a circulating heater for sale last week, but down the line of ad solicitors, compositors, makeup men, etc., the stove changed into a 6-room house with circulating furnace.

Eight or ten persons have called about the house, which, according to Warren, is still a coal heater.

Russia has converted the cathedral of St. Isaac into a theatre where atheistic plays are presented. The religious views of each man are his own affair, but no good can come of an attempt to legislate away any of the finer things of life, nor have such attempts been generally successful. ## Farming: A Profitless Business

At the prices received by farmers October 15, the total wheat and cotton crops of the United States this year will just a trifle more than pay the interest on American farm mortgages.

All the wheat and cotton raised this year, sold at the average farm prices on the date named, would bring about $600,000,000, according to figures given by the Department of Agriculture. According to the same department, the mortgage debt on American farms at the latest date for which figures are available was $9,241,390,000, and the average rate of interest was 6.1 per cent.

In round numbers, then, the American farmer's two chief cash crops bring him $600,000,000; and he has to pay $564,000,000 of interest. The same crops in 1930 brought about $1,191,000,000; so that the American farmer has lost nearly half the income from these crops in two years.

The American wheat grower this year is getting an average return of $4.43 an acre for supplying the nation's principal food crop. The American cotton grower is getting an average of $9.66 an acre for making the chief contribution to the world's clothing material. Both are figures of bankruptcy, and both are based on statistics gathered by the Department of Agriculture. They show why a farmers' march on Washington is not only natural but probably inevitable—if the farmers can find a way to live during the march.

October 15, this year, the average farm price of wheat all over the United States was 34.6 cents a bushel. In the chief wheat regions it was less. In Oklahoma and Kansas, the average farm price of wheat was 30 cents a bushel; in Nebraska and South Dakota, it was 29 cents a bushel; in Idaho, it was 27 cents. Wheat prices have dropped about 4 cents a bushel since then. They are lower now, in world markets, than at any time in the last 300 years—lower than in the days of Queen Elizabeth. But October 15 is the last date for which official figures can be had, so these will be used.

The Department of Agriculture reports the average yield of American wheat this year at 12.8 bushels per acre. The crop is all gathered, so the experts of the department ought to know. Raising 12.8 bushels of wheat per acre and selling it at 34.6 cents a bushel, the American wheat grower gets a total gross income from his crop of 4.43 an acre. Take a pencil and figure it out for yourself.

One does not need to be a farm expert to know that this return is well below the cost of production. The average cost of threshing wheat is from 4 to 5 cents a bushel, or from 52 to 64 cents an acre for a crop of average yield. If the farmer expects to grow wheat next year, he must save about two bushels an acre for seed, which cuts down his income per acre by another 70 cents.

Add the cost of plowing and taxes and it becomes crystal clear that the American farmer of the wheat belt is paying for the privilege of giving the nation its chief single food.

The farm price of cotton October 15 averaged 6.4 cents a pound—all these figures are gathered from the Department of Agriculture. The yield this year is estimated to average 149 pounds per acre; but since the crop is not all picked, it is better to take the average yield of the last ten years, which is 151 pounds per acre.

At 6.4 cents a pound and 151 pounds to the acre, the American cotton grower gets an average return of $9.66 per acre for his crop, the chief clothing material of the world. Cotton is what is called a "hood crop". Not only is it picked by hand, but it must be cultivated, in part, by hand. Counting this, it seems plain that the cotton grower is no better off than the wheat grower, and that both are paying for the privilege of cultivating the soil.

Compare these prices with those which the farmer must pay for supplies. It takes the gross income from an acre of wheat to buy a pair of shoes, and the gross income from half an acre to buy a pair of overalls. A horse-drawn plow costs $28—the total income from nearly seven acres of wheat or from three acres of cotton. A tractor-drawn, two-bottom plow costs $120—that is to say, nearly 30 acres of wheat or 13 acres of cotton.

A horse-drawn binder, cutting a seven-foot swath, costs $235—about 55 acres of wheat. The agent who gave these figures explained that his agency has sold one such binder this year and two last year, whereas a few years ago they did quite a thriving business. The drop does not seem surprising.

And always, there is the interest on the mortgage.

The American farmer is being ground between the millstones of falling prices for his produce and fixed interest on his debt—from Labor.

HOOVER INVITES RAZZBERRY SHOUTER TO STEP FORWARD

Aboard President Hoover's Special Train En Route to California November 8—Someone in the crowd shouted "Razzberries" at President Hoover at Carlin, Nev., last night as the President begged to be excused from making a speech.

"If the man who made that remark will step forward, I will attend to him", remarked the President icily from the back platform of his train.

There was a moment of silence. No one stepped forward, and the crowd of 200 broke into a cheer.

ONE TIME RICHEST WOMAN IN U. S. DIES

New York, November 8.—Mrs. Mary Averell Harriman, financier and philanthropist, who became the richest woman in the United States in 1909, is dead.

The widow of E. H. Harriman, railroad financier, and "Little Giant of Wall Street", succumbed last night in New York Hospital after an emergency operation. She was 81 years old.

When Harriman died in 1909 he left a 100-word will bequeathing his vast estate to his widow "absolutely and forever". Mrs. Harriman amazed Wall Street by the sagacity with which she administered it.

Harriman had had a fondness for 10 per cent investments coupled with a risk, but she preferred 5 per cent and safety. She withdrew from speculative enterprises and eventually created the Harriman National Bank.

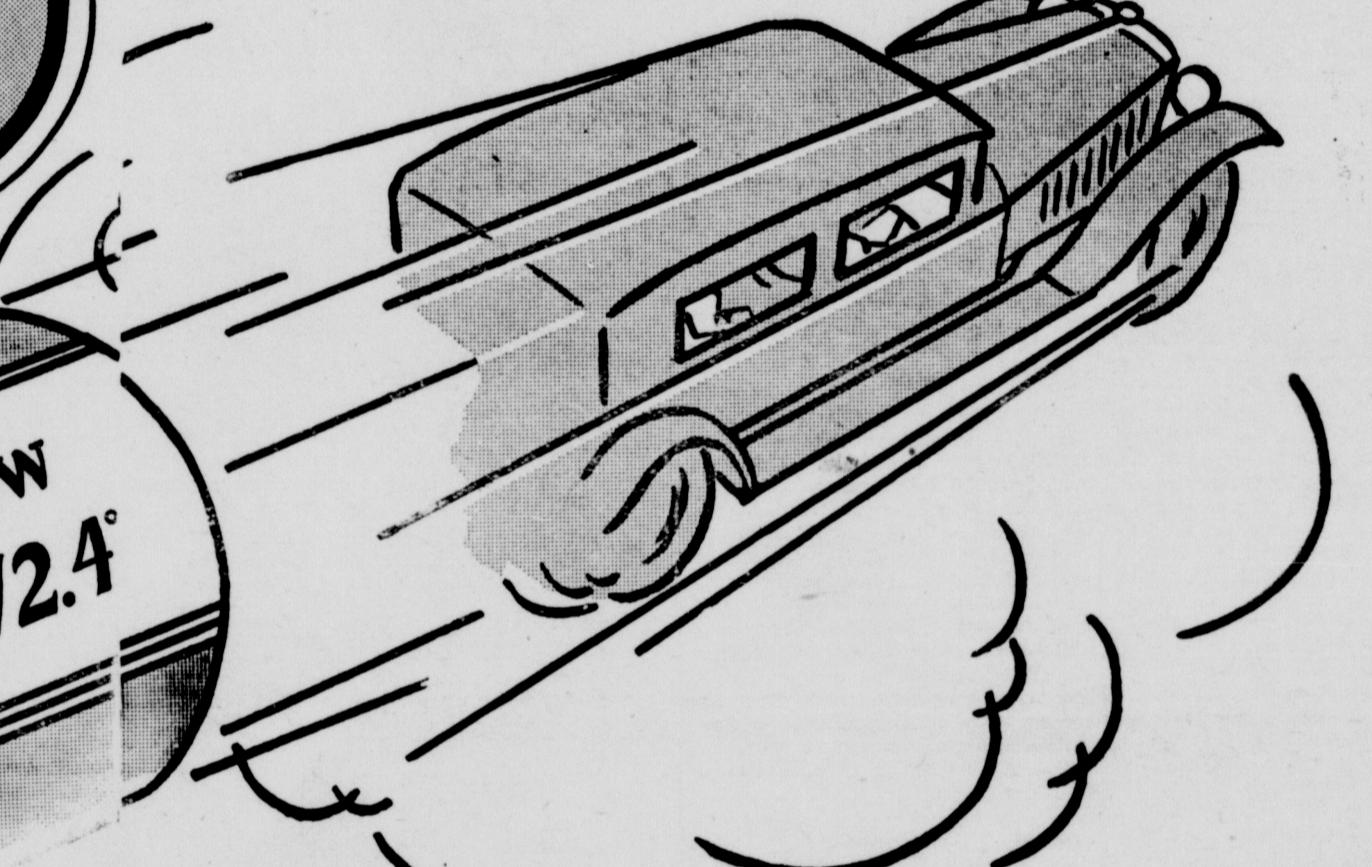

The list of the philanthropic and scientific projects she set in motion would fill a column. The most famous was the gift of 10,000 acres and $1,000,000 for a State park in the mountainous region west of the Hudson River in the highlands. She was responsible for Bear Mountain Bridge, which crosses the Hudson to make the park more accessible.

"HIGHEST TEST"

at the price of ordinary gasoline

When an ad yells in fat black type that "Science says the so-and-so gasoline is the best"...

When testing laboratory reports are published which try to prove that the company paying for the tests has the only quality gasoline...

When charts are printed to convince drivers that they are foolish and wasting money unless they buy some one gasoline and no other...

Then there is only one comment which experienced motorists can make: "OH, YEAH?"

In our opinion, there are a number of good gasolines on the market. The products of the reputable refiners will all give good service. If the claims are just a bit strong and laid on rather heavy, remember that these are days of fierce competition in the gasoline industry.

The hard-boiled driver, the man from Missouri, and his wife who won't believe a word in the ads—we understand and appreciate exactly how they feel.

Their way of getting the truth about motor fuel is to put it up to the motor. They try the gas. And if performance is improved, if special benefits develop—then they know their own minds and stick to the gasoline that delivers most for their money.

More than 7,400,000 experienced drivers have already switched to Phillips 66... the greater gasoline. And as the days grow colder, there will be at least a million more.

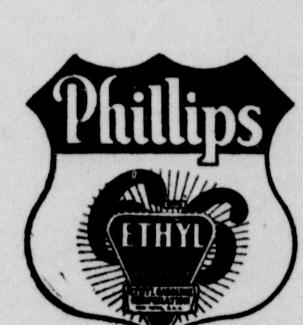

They will want that split-second starting in freezing weather, which loyal Phillips users are so proud of. They will demand all the other high test advantages so generously delivered by this amazing new motor fuel: quick warm-up... added power... smoother running... longer mileage.

Because of the marvelous things they have heard about it from their friends, they will expect something unusual and different in Phillips 66. And they will not be disappointed, because Phillips pioneered the principle of CONTROLLED VOLATILITY, which adjusts the "test" of the gasoline not merely to the season but to your weather, week by week and day by day.

They will not be disappointed, because Phillips 66 is made by the world's largest producer of natural high gravity gasoline. That is why its high test costs you nothing extra.

The colder the day on which you try your first tankful, the more impressed you will be by the tremendous winter advantages of "highest test" Phillips 66 gasoline.

But why take our word for it? Put it up to your motor. It plays no favorites. Fill-up with Phillips 66 tomorrow, at the Orange and Black 66 shield.

Sikeston 4-H Garden Club

The Sikeston 4-H Garden Club completed its year's work last Thursday night by holding a short achievement program before some of the friends and brother Boy Scouts, as each Club member was a Scout and sponsored by the Boy Scout Troop led by Arnold Roth. The meeting was called to order by John Bowman, acting president of the Club. After conducting the final business meeting, Charles Yanson told how he had sprayed and dusted his garden to control insects. Franklin Struve gave the Club history of the organization of the Club, the work of the various members, their club tour, camp trip to Irondale, visits made to the best gardens in the Lions Club Garden Contest. He told also of the profits made in having a garden. County Agent Furry awarded achievement pins to Charles Yanson, Franklin Struve, John Bowman and Raymond Tomey.

It is interesting to note the results of their garden record books and the returns from their small garden for the spring and early summer gardens only. They did not keep the records of the fall gardens. Raymond Tomey with a plot of 40x50 feet made a profit of $5.22 or at the rate of $109.62 per acre above cost. Charles Yanson with a plot 20x30 feet did some very intensive gardening on it with a net profit of $9.50 or at the rate of $68.4 per acre. Franklin Struve with a 50x75 foot plot made a profit of $8.77 per acre or at the rate of $96.47 per acre. John Bowman with a 25x50 foot plot made a total profit of $6.40 or at the rate of $224 per acre.

After the Garden Club meeting the boys held a discussion and decided to organize a Health and First Aid Club and are now perfecting this organization. This Club will fit into some of the requirements of the second class boy scouting work. Garden work qualified them for a merit badge in gardening.

The Preparation of Salads will be the topic of the last of a series of joint meetings of the Neighborhood Women's Clubs of Scott County, at New Hamburg Wednesday, November 23, at 2 p. m.

The Neighborhood Club of New Hamburg met last Friday and re-elected officers for 1933 as follows: President, Mrs. Fidelia Klipfey; Vice-President, Mrs. Chas. Schoen; Secretary, Miss Dorothy Hahn, reporter, Miss Lorene Buehner, and Child Development Chairman, Miss Lucile Diermberger. After the election of officers they decided to meet every two weeks and use sewing as the project for the meetings this winter. Loan envelopes on sewing were ordered from the College for each meeting until February. They also decided to organize a 4-H Clothing Club for the younger girls in the agent announces that both matinee and evening Horse Shows will be held on that day.

One of the big features of the Monday night Horse Show, November 28, will be a parade of 4-H Club boys and girls who will be here from 43 States. Spectacular auction sales of breeding cattle and the choicest of prime meat animals in the land will be held the closing days of the big show.

For the first time a full entertainment program will be given on Sunday, November 27. The man-in many instances the reports show an increase of the birds over the last two years.

In eight counties a vote is to be taken November 8 to determine if the season should be closed on quail shooting for a two-year period. Game officials, however, point out that in the counties where a vote is to be taken the quail supply is above normal for the State and that a closed season would not assure sportsmen of increased crops in the future.

The Eleda Neighborhood Women's Club met with Mrs. T. L. Dohogne acting as leader on the topic of Christmas Gifts suggestions, some of the members brought Christmas gifts which they had made, to the meeting and explained how they made them. They also exchanged recipes suitable for Christmas period. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Otto Schlitt with Mrs. T. L. Dohogne acting as leader.

The Head School Neighborhood Women's Club met and reorganized for 1933 with the following as officers: President, Mrs. Louis Albrecht. Secretary, Mrs. Wm. Roth; Reporter, Mrs. Herman Musbach; Game and Song Leader, Mrs. Oscar Roth; Child Development Chairman, Mrs. Jimmie Lee.

AN EGCGITING TIME

PREDICTED IN L. A.

When William C. Healy and M. Alonzo begin paying their election bets soon, natives of Los Angeles predict an eggciting time if only for two principals involved.

Should President Hoover win the election, bet Mr. Alonzo, he would permit a barrage of four dozen eggs fired by William C. Healy. Healy on the other hand, agreed to permit himself to be the target for two dozen if Gov. Roosevelt be elected.

Healy will receive the omelet, chained to a post to insure a stationary target.

They are not quite as crazy as that in New Madrid County, where two Lilbourne boys, one working on a Republican newspaper, wagered on the election. The loser is to push the other from Lilbourne to New Madrid, a distance of about 6 miles, in a wheelbarrow.

"It's almost unbelievable the feeling of new life that came over me when I started taking Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills. I had the worst kind of stomach trouble and was terribly run-down, bloated and constipated. My whole system was poisoned and I suffered from sharp pains under my left shoulder. I became really nervous and could not sleep. Now I am well and strong as I have ever been in my life. All Honor and Respect to the Men of 1918 on Their Day—November 11th

The American soldiers, sailors and marines of the Great War are deserving of the marked respect paid them on this particular day. We are now enjoying the fruits of their sacrifices. The peace for which they fought is ours . . . independence and freedom is assured. As long as the spirit of 1918 survives, democracy will survive. Give them, then, their fullest dues, those heroes of the World War . . . let their splendid example be the guiding light in our national conduct in years to come.

Gone from the papers are headlines telling the anxious civilians of the tide of battle. Died away are the echoes of our cheers as America's Finest marched forth to war—today our thoughts turn to business conditions and football scores. The very sirens and whistles that hailed the golden Victory fourteen years ago summon workers to task or leisure . . . but this is an anniversary. Just today let us reflect in gratitude on the Boys Who Have Done Their Bit.

The election of Franklin Roosevelt should not be classed as a Democratic landslide but an uprising of the people. The President-elect should call together patriots of all parties, formulate some plan of action for general relief, then call a special session of Congress to take action. Miracles are not performed in modern times, therefore it will take time and courage for the wheels to get adjusted for the benefit of all alike.

There will be a general exodus from Jefferson City soon after January 1 when new State officers are sworn in. The L. D. Thompson's will probably find it mighty hard to make a living after having hold of the public teat for so many years.

The voting public doesn't seem to have a great deal of confidence or fear of fairy tales told during political campaigns. Eleventh hour stories usually have the opposite effect from what intended.

The morning after opened up clear and most of us had a good taste in our mouth. Those of the winning faith felt for the losers and were kind. Sore spots soon healed the wounds are not kept open.

It was a wonderful victory for the people and we hope they have sufficient patience to wait for the pendulum to come to a balance before they expect two chickens in every pot.

Considering the amount of spell-binding that was done by both parties up to the very dawn of election day, each must have felt that it was all over but the shouting.

The only testimonial not used by President Hoover during his campaign was that of Albert B. Fall, late Secretary of the Interior and later of the New Mexico penitentiary, who was at one time a cabinet member with Mr. Hoover.

Scott County ranks high up with the Democratic Counties of Missouri with a majority of about 4500. Considering this majority for President, Frank Van Horne, for sheriff on the Republican ticket, made a fine race as he was only defeated by about 2500. With normal conditions existing it would have taken a very strong candidate to have defeated him. This time it seems like any candidate anywhere on the Republican ticket went down in defeat.

If we had our say one of the first things we would do to bring back confidence and contentment would be to call a halt on foreclosures of farm homes. It usually takes a man a life time to improve a piece of land into a home and in his old age have it taken away from him for taxes is nothing less than a crime.

Are you ashamed of the part you took or the things you said in the late campaign, or are you proud of it and would do it again?

From certain sections of the country people have from time to time agitated the passing of a National Birth Control Bill, but to date it has not been acted upon. For one, we are against it for married couples, but strong for it for single couples.

The next big event on the calendar is Thanksgiving Day and some have more to be thankful for than others. The greatest thing to be thankful for is health, the next is for food and fuel. The political end of it should not be considered.

Charlie Henson had meat for breakfast Wednesday morning and is satisfied times are getting better already.

NATION AGREES WE NEED A NEW DEAL

Four years ago Hoover won over Smith by 444 to 87.

In popular votes, Roosevelt had a lead believed to be greatly in excess of the 6,500,000 by which Hoover topped Smith in 1928.

Except for rock ribbed Pennsylvania, where the Vare machine rolls up Republican votes as Tammany rolls up Democratic votes in New York, and the five smaller States named, the East joined the West, the North and the South in rejecting the President's appeal for vindication.

The story was told Tuesday night when New York State was shown to have gone for Roosevelt by a tremendous majority. That mortal blow to the President's hopes was followed quickly by the news that Ohio, Illinois and Indiana had broken from the Republican standard.

Missouri Lines Up

Bennett C. Clark for United States Senator on the incomplete returns was running somewhat behind Roosevelt, but was still in the 400,000 plurality class. On returns from nearly three-fourths of the precincts it appeared that his plurality would be about 40,000 lower than that of the Presidential candidate.

Guy B. Park for Governor was trailing considerably behind Clark and Roosevelt. On the basis of returns reported it appeared that Park's plurality would be shown to be nearly 150,000 lower than Roosevelt's and nearly 100,000 lower than Clark's. Park suffered from the anti-boss opposition to him as the Boss Pendergast candidate.

New State Officers

The new State officers elected were:

United States Senator, Bennett Champ Clark of St. Louis.

Governor—Guy B. Park of Platte City.

Lieutenant-Governor—Frank G. Harris of Columbia.

Secretary of State—Dwight H. Brown, of Poplar Bluff.

State Auditor—Forrest Smith of Richmond.

State Treasurer—Richard R. Nacy of Jefferson City.

Attorney-General—Roy McKittrick of Salisbury.

Judge of Supreme Court, Division No. 1—Charles T. Hays of Hannibal.

Judges of the Supreme Court, Division No. 2—Clarence A. Burney and Ernest M. Tipton, both of Kansas City.

Missouri elected the entire slate of 13 Democratic members of the House rolled into office with the Roosevelt ticket.

This will make the State's representation in the next Congress 13 Democratic members of the House, all elected at large, and one Democratic and one Republican Senator. Roscoe Patterson of Springfield, was elected to the Senate four years ago and his term extends two years from next March 4.

Eight present members of Congress are included among the 13 Democrats elected to the House of Representatives. All 13 are pledged to repeal of the eighteenth amendment and modification of the Volstead law.

Following are those elected, the first eight being the incumbent and the last five the new members:

John J. Cochran, St. Louis.

Clarence Cannon, Elsberry.

C. D. Dickinson, Clinton.

Ralph F. Lozier, Carrollton.

Jacob L. Milligan, Richmond.

Milton A. Romjue, Macon.

Joseph B. Shannon, Kansas City.

Clyde Williams, Hillsboro.

James R. Claiborne, University City.

Richard M. Duncan, St. Joseph.

Frank H. Lee, Joplin.

Lola Carewe sat nervous and apprehensive amidst the contagious gaiety of her surroundings. Her escort, Vincent Rowland, seemingly unaware of her mood, was humming the gay tune the orchestra was playing, engrossed in the merry dances who were continually swirling by. Lola Carewe had a foreboding that something was amiss. Ever since she first began receiving those notes she had been perturbed but to-night she felt differently; she felt as though the Thing she was constantly fearing was catching up with her. Her hands played uneasily over objects on the table; a napkin, a paper-thin glass, everything that was in reach of the long tapering fingers which were twitching in obvious uneasiness. Oh, if there had only been a way she could have avoided coming here that night! But what was the use—it was better than staying home looking at the walls, fearful of every shadow. It was better here under the glaring white lights of the night club.

There only were a few more people here. But why shouldn't she want people here—didn't she eat the night club? Wasn't it better for business that there were a lot of people? And, besides, wasn't it New Year's Eve?

Andre, her head waiter, approached holding a purse in his hand—her purse. He handed it to her.

"Where did you get it?" she asked in surprise.

"The taxicab driver. He says that you left it in his cab."

"Thanks, Andre."

Lola threw the bag on the side casually, then, as an afterthought, picked it up again and opened it.

"I'm frightened, Mr. Colt." "I'm going along. At least in your apartment you've got a chance."

He motioned to a man at an adjoining table.

"Bill," he ordered tersely, "phone down to headquarters and have the seven six men to Miss Carewe's apartment."

The man from headquarters were waiting when the Commissioner, Lola Carewe and Rowland arrived. Colt ordered the apartment and the surrounding roofs and terraces searched minutely. Lola was not allowed to enter any room alone.

Her constant companion was a young policewoman named Kelly. Thatcher Colt, returning from a painstaking inspection of a clothes closet, approached Lola.

"Who lives here with you, Miss Carewe?"

"My mother and Miss Quires—Christine Quires—a friend of mine."

"Where is her room?"

"In there," she pointed.

"Is she in?"

"No; she's gone to the Lion's Inn with Mr. Everett—you know, the actor."

"Guy Everett?"

"Yes."

"How many servants?"

"Two, a maid named Eunice and a butler, Mura."

Colt assigned a detective to each of the domestics.

"Is there any reason why I can't go home?" inquired Rowland as he came up.

"None," retorted Colt significantly, "but I'd rather you stayed if you don't mind."

He invited Lola into her bedroom.

"Tell me something about this man Rowland," he asked pointedly.

"Can you think of any reason why he should want to—well?"

Andre, her head waiter, approached holding a purse in his hand—her purse. He handed it to her.

"Where did you get it?" she asked in surprise.

"The taxicab driver. He says that you left it in his cab."

"Thanks, Andre."

She uttered a plainly audible gasp and gazed around her fearfully. Vincent Rowland, leaned towards her solicitously.

"Look!" she invited him, handing him the bag.

Rowland took the bag wonderingly. He peered into it his eyes widening in horror. Pasted on the mirror of the dresser was a slip of paper upon which were pasted words clipped from a newspaper. To read: YOUR TIME HAS COME. YOU CANNOT LIVE A MINUTE AFTER MIDNIGHT. "Take my advice, Lola, and report it to the police."

"No. Get me a drink, please." "All right, if you insist upon acting like an idiot there's nothing—" He started to rise.

"Where are you going?"

"I had some champagne sent over. I'll see if it has arrived."

Lola cupped her chin in her hands and sat staring into space. A voice started her.

"Your friend's right, Miss Carewe. It might not be a bad idea to report it to the police. Sometimes we can be very helpful."

She recognized him. Thatcher Colt, the Police Commissioner.

"I don't know what your talking about," she said stiffly.

"Your life has been threatened, Miss Carewe," he went on. "A few minutes ago you received a warning. It wasn't the first one. Your friend pleaded with you to see the police about it. You refused. He's gone out to see about some champagne. Is that correct?"

She stared at him, agitated.

"How could you have heard?"

"I read your lips. Quite an accomplishment, lip reading. Don't you want to show me the message you received?"

She silently gave him the bag, pointing to the paper pasted on the mirror. Colt studied it momentarily.

"Have you any idea as to—" "Now," she broke in quickly.

Colt stared at her queerly for a moment, then held up her wrap.

"Come on, Miss Carewe."

"Where to?"

"You're going home. This is no place for you. In a mob like this you're a wide open target."

HIGHLAND BREWERY
BEING CONDITIONED
TO MAKE REAL BEER

The Highland Brewery at Highland, Ill., with a production capacity of 100,000 gallons of beer a year, is being put in shape to manufacture real beer, in anticipation of modification of the Volstead act, it was said yesterday by persons interested in the plant.

Painting, cleaning and repairing may cost from $15,000 to $20,000, according to Eugene Schott of Highland, a member of the family that operated the brewery in pre-prohibition days.

Charles Maurer, vice president of the Collinsville State Bank, who is supervising the work at the brewery in the interest of the bank, said the work is expected to be completed in several weeks. From the day the wheels start turning the brewery can turn out beer fit for drinking, he declared.

Explaining the move, he said he expects legalization of beer with a high alcoholic content within two years.

"Every one seems to be looking forward to a glass of real beer these days, so we are just getting ready," he said. "It seems to me that, no matter who is elected, real beer will be returned."

The brewery engaged in the manufacture of near-beer for some time after the passage of the Volstead act, but did not make a success of the venture. The building occupies a city block. Connected with it is a cavern two blocks long for the storing and aging of the brew.

THIN BLANKET OF
SNOW COVERS WEST
PART OF MISSOURI

Kansas City, November 8.—Kansas City woke to find itself under a thin blanket of snow this election morning.

A. M. Hamrick, federal weather observer, said sudden drops in temperature transformed rain into snow in an area extending over northeastern Kansas, northwestern Missouri and a small strip in southern Iowa.

The clinging snow was not sufficient to interrupt the activities of this western nerve center of communication and transportation from which radiate transcontinental railroads and air lines and cross country telegraph and telephone lines.

NEW MADRID COUNTY SCHOOL NOTES

By Milus R. Davis

We are now preparing for a county-wide standardized testing program, for all schools that are not in first class high school districts, in which all pupils in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades will be admitted free. Some teachers want to bring their fourth grade pupils along too, but we will not be able to handle them this time. However, a few may be included—those whose classification are doubtful.

We will meet at Walnut Grove on November 15; Union Grove, November 16; La Forge, November 17; Point Pleasant, November 18; Portageville, November 19; York, November 22; Kendall, November 29; Fairview, November 30; Maple Grove, December 2; Parma, December 3; Conran, December 6; New Madrid, December 10.

The purpose of this program is to stimulate pupils to their maximum effort, and their rating will also throw light on their classification. For example, if some pupil seems to be out of place, we will recommend that they be given further tests by their teacher.

It is our desire that our schools be among the best in the State and all those interested in our schools should have a similar ambition. To achieve this goal we must be able to point with pride to the fitness and thoroughness of our graduates.

In order to produce well trained graduates who are able to cope with the business world, it is necessary to constantly check on their progress from grade to grade lest they become careless and try to "get by" without doing their work well.

Injuries have disappeared in the meantime, however, and Coach Mahew will present his full strength Friday night.

Young, Moll, Caldwell and Hunter or Carroll will start in the backfield positions, while the line will be at full strength.

Mahew is grooming his charges this week as never before for the last game on the home schedule. The team was disorganized last week during the New Madrid game, but should be able to hold Perryville fairly well in line.

COUNCIL TO MEET AGAIN MONDAY NIGHT

City Dads spent several hours in their regular monthly session last Monday night, but, according to the record, accomplished very little.

Routine reports and passing of expense items consumed an hour, after which several claims were heard. Roly McDonald appeared with a request asking for credit for his 1926-27 real estate taxes.

Mr. McDonald claims the tax bill was paid in 1927, but that he evi-ently failed to receive credit on the books of the collector. His receipts, he says, were destroyed in a fire. The Council will investigate the claims.

Mrs. Anna Ancell asked for a refund of the cost of a sanitary sewer leading from her home to the main line. No action was taken.

A representative of the Corliss Well Company consumed many minutes explaining the relative merits of a straight and gravel wall well, but no action was taken on the proposed waterworks project.

Louis Ferrell will receive a refund of $2.00 representing an overpayment of 1932 cemetery taxes.

Princeton—North Broadway being surfaced with crushed rock.

Merwin—New Merwin high school dedicated.

Braymer—Plans made for establishment of new theatre here.

Norborne—Improvements made at First Baptist parsonage.

Brunswick—J. Ray Doyal of Slater, acquired Dansante soft drink shop.

Finally the Council, with a national election staring them in the face on the morrow, adjourned to meet again Monday night, November 14, to discuss plans, specifications and bids for the construction of a ladies' and men's rest room in the City Hall.

There was a sheriff elected in Scott County in 1870 by the name of Joe Anderson. He was a Democrat. His record stands above reproach. Scott County elected another Joe Anderson sheriff last Tuesday. And how! His name is considerably besmirched, and his record rather badly bungled. He was accused of having unsavory connections (with Democrats), bootleggers, hoodlums, and so on. The count shows that there are at least 2500 more leggers, hoodlums, roughnecks, etc., than deacons, goody goodies, etc. Nevertheless, Anderson visited us today and repeated his campaign pledge. "I have made promises to no one, and to no party of men. When I go into office I will do my duty to the extent of my ability to keep Scott County clean. We believe Joe is sincere in his purpose. He will be watched by friends and foes alike, and we will be among the watchers with advice and counsel. We have no intention of hiding facts, or of distorting actions should they prove to be out of line with common de-

to recommend it."

SAM HARRIS WINS NEW MADRID VOTE FOR SHERIFF

New Madrid, November 9.—Voters turned out here Tuesday to add another victory mark in the Democratic column by giving Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt the entire ticket, including all county officers, a majority which, on the basis of incomplete returns, is expected to reach 3000 votes. Between 10,000 and 11,000 votes were cast, but returns were available today from only 14 of the 23 precincts.

The sheriff's race was a criterion for other offices, County officials said. Sam Harris, Democrat, rolled up 4582 votes to 2722 for W. E. Denton, Republican, in the 14 precincts.

Many of the precincts were slow in reporting their returns and it was expected that it would be late in the day before complete returns were available. The vote was heavier than usual.

Democratic candidates elected to office in New Madrid County were: Representative, J. S. Wallace; County judge, first district, Elton Proffer; County judge, second district, O. R. Rhodes; prosecuting attorney, James V. Conran; Sheriff, Sam Harris; assessor, Will Moylan; treasurer, J. K. Robbins; surveyor, W. E. Davis; public administrator, G. F. Deane; coroner, L. A. Richards, Jr.—Cape Missouri.

Special to The Standard
New Madrid, November 10.—Voters in this county polled a total of 11,641 votes Tuesday, giving the Democratic slate 7880 and the Republican 3761, sweeping the entire Democratic ticket to victory.

M. E. RADCLIFFE OF MATTHEWS DIES

Erastus Marion Radcliffe, aged 71 years, 10 months and 16 days, died Sunday night, after a prolonged illness, and was laid to rest Wednesday afternoon. He was born in Clark County, Ind., but has made his home in Southeast Missouri near Matthews for many years.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Matthews of East Prairie at the Christian church Wednesday afternoon for M. E. Radcliffe, who passed away Sunday evening, at his home three miles west of this place, after a lingering illness of several weeks. Interment in the Memorial Park, Sikeston. ### Three Local Youths Confess Sterling Store Robbery Here

Three Sikeston boys, Rex Lambert, 15; Max Reed and Tom Lancaster confessed Monday night and Tuesday this week to the robbery of the Sterling Store here late Saturday night or Sunday morning. Lambert, who was employed at the Store and Reed are directly implicated, while Lancaster merely received a "cut" of the loot as hush money.

As reported exclusively in Sikeston last Monday by The Standard ard, burglars gained entrance to the office of the variety store thru the Armory which connects with the Sterling wareroom upstairs, and then worked the combination on the safe and made their escape with $420 in currency.

Search Sunday afternoon found two sacks containing $83 in silver cached in the Armory, and a quantity of checks which had been discarded by the boys. The checks totaled about $140.

confession, and recovery of the major portion of the stolen money.

The conversation of a number of Sikeston boys four months ago, regarding the ease with which Sterlings could be "knocked over" was recalled. Max Reed, a nephew of the patrol sergeant, and Rex Lambert were named as two of the boys. This plus a strong "hunch" led to the arrest of Lambert Monday night. After he was held for questioning, but was released the following day.

Sgt. Reed Finds Clue

Rufus Reed, sergeant in Troop E, State Highway Patrol, deserves credit in solving the case. It was Reed who uncovered additional evidence which eventually led to a combined story of the several confessions was pieced together by officers. Lambert, it seems, needed money badly and had often approached Reed with the suggestion of robbery. About two weeks ago, he and Reed obtained a quantity of cigarettes from the store, entering through the armory after Lambert had had a key made for the door. A. J. Slaton, Sterling Store manager, placed a special hasp and lock on the ware room door following that affair, however, necessitating a new method of approach.

The boys finally agreed that Lambert open the Armory door, that both entered the office of Sterlings, and that Lambert opened the safe. He had previously stolen the combination from the purse of the cashier, Miss Guiniver Eubank. Reed, he insisted, actually removed the money bags from the safe, after which both boys carried their "swag" upstairs, separated checks, silver and bills, and made their getaway.

The loot was split three ways, probably four if other factors come to light. Rex received $125, Max received $162, and Lancaster took $25 as his part for saying nothing. Tom had spent $15 for shoes, a sweater and hat, but agreed to make good that amount. Max had given $30 of his part to his wife, who returned $26, and $132 was hidden for Reed by Lancaster. Officers are still working on the case to determine the whereabouts of approximately $105 still missing, according to the figures of Mr. Slaton.

R. E. Stewart, special agent with the Frisco railroad, rendered valuable assistance in taking finger prints, and in conducting the investigation.

No charges had been preferred against the three boys Wednesday evening.

NEWSPAPER MAGIC TURNS STOVE INTO BIG HOUSE

Bill Warren is convinced that Standard wantads not only pull, but that someone in the newspaper office is a magician of the first order. Warren offered a circulating heater for sale last week, but down the line of ad solicitors, compositors, makeup men, etc., the stove changed into a 6-room house with circulating furnace.

Eight or ten persons have called against the house, which, according to Warren, is still a coal heater.

Democrats Sweep State

Missouri Sends Delegation of 13 Democrats to House—Four Republicans Lose Seats.

A Leader's Summary

Listeners to The Sikeston Standard's broadcast of National, State and County election returns heard the following stinging rebuke issued by Gifford Pinchot, governor of Pennsylvania: "Republican leaders asked for defeat and they got it. They were warned that Hoover's renomination meant disaster, but Wall Street and power insisted and the leaders listened to their master's voice. Tonight they are reaping exactly what they sowed. This overturn is the revolt of Republican rank and file against blind and selfish leadership which betrayed the people to serve concentrated wealth".

The National, State and County Democratic tickets were swept into office by the political upheaval Tuesday.

Franklin D. Roosevelt and John Nance Garner were elected President and Vice-President in the landslide even more devastating to Republican hopes than that which carried Al Smith to defeat in 1928.

The Count Wednesday afternoon placed only 59 electoral votes in the Hoover-Curtis column. They were garnered from the eastern States of Maine, Vermont, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania and Delaware.

The Roosevelt ticket appeared to have carried the remaining 42 States with 472 electoral votes.

Scott Hands Demos Majority of 4500

A clean sweep from the presidential race to the constable's contest was registered Tuesday by Scott County Democratic voters, who returned a majority of 4500 for the ticket.

There were no contests on the ticket wofly of mention. The one race which caused considerable comment in the county, between Joe Anderson and Frank W. Van Horne running on the Democratic and Republican tickets, respectively, for the office of sheriff, ended as did all other races—Anderson won hands down, polling a vote of 5898 to 3379 for Van Horne. The latter carried his home ward.

Farming: A Profitless Business

At the prices received by farmers October 15, the total wheat and cotton crops of the United States this year will just a trifle more than pay the interest on American farm mortgages.

All the wheat and cotton raised this year, sold at the average farm prices on the date named, would bring about $600,000,000, according to figures given by the Department of Agriculture. According to the same department, the mortgage debt on American farms at the last date for which figures are available was $9,241,390,000, and the average rate of interest was 6.1 per cent.

In round numbers, then, the American farmer's two chief cash crops bring him $600,000,000; and he has to pay $564,000,000 of interest. The same crops in 1930 brought about $1,191,000,000; so that the American farmer has lost nearly half the income from these crops in two years.

The American wheat grower this year is getting an average return of $4.43 an acre for supplying the nation's principal food crop. The American cotton grower is getting an average of $9.66 an acre for making the chief contribution to the world's clothing material. Both are figures of bankruptcy, and are based on statistics gathered by the Department of Agriculture. They show why a farmers' march on Washington is not only natural but probably inevitable—if the farmers can find a way to live during the march.

October 15, this year, the average farm price of wheat all over the United States was 34.6 cents a bushel. In the chief wheat regions it was less. In Oklahoma and Kansas, the average farm price of wheat was 30 cents a bushel; in Nebraska and South Dakota, it was 29 cents a bushel; in Idaho, it was 27 cents. Wheat prices have dropped about 4 cents a bushel since then. They are lower now, in world markets, than at any time in the last 300 years—lower than in the days of Queen Elizabeth. But October 15 is the last date for which official figures can be had, so these will be used.

The Department of Agriculture reports the average yield of American wheat this year at 12.8 bushels per acre. The crop is all gathered, so the experts of the department ought to know. Raising 12.8 bushels of wheat per acre and selling it at 34.6 cents a bushel, the American wheat grower gets a total gross income from his crop of 4.43 an acre. Take a pencil and figure it out for yourself.

One does not need to be a farm expert to know that this return is well below the cost of production. The average cost of threshing wheat is from 4 to 5 cents a bushel, or from 52 to 64 cents an acre for a crop of average yield. If the farmer expects to grow wheat next year, he must save about two bushels an acre for seed, which cuts down his income per acre by another 70 cents.

Add the cost of plowing and taxes and it becomes crystal clear that the American farmer of the wheat belt is paying for the privilege of giving the nation its chief single food.

The farm price of cotton October 15 averaged 6.4 cents a pound—all these figures are gathered from the Department of Agriculture. The yield this year is estimated to average 149 pounds per acre; but since the crop is not all picked, it is better to take the average yield of the last ten years, which is 151 pounds per acre.

At 6.4 cents a pound and 151 pounds to the acre, the American cotton grower gets an average return of $9.66 per acre for his crop, the chief clothing material of the world. Cotton is what is called a "hood crop". Not only is it picked by hand, but it must be cultivated in part, by hand. Counting this, it seems plain that the cotton grower is no better off than the wheat grower, and that both are paying for the privilege of cultivating the soil.

Compare these prices with those which the farmer must pay for supplies. It takes the gross income from an acre of wheat to buy a pair of shoes, and the gross income from half an acre to buy a pair of overalls. A horse-drawn plow costs $28—the total income from nearly seven acres of wheat or from three acres of cotton. A tractor-drawn, two-bottom plow costs $120—that is to say, nearly 30 acres of wheat or 13 acres of cotton.

A horse-drawn binder, cutting a seven-foot swath, cost $235—about 55 acres of wheat. The agent who gave these figures explained that his agency has sold one such binder this year and two last year, whereas a few years ago they did quite a thriving business. The drop does not seem surprising.

And always, there is the interest on the mortgage.

The American farmer is being ground between the millstones of falling prices for his produce and fixed interest on his debt.—From Labor.

HOOVER INVITES RAZZBERRY SHOUTER TO STEP FORWARD

Aboard President Hoover's Special Train En Route to California, November 8, someone in the crowd shouted "Razzberries" at President Hoover at Carlin, Nev., last night as the President begged to be excused from making a speech.

"If the man who made that remark will step forward, I will attend to him", remarked the President icily from the back platform of his train.

There was a moment of silence. No one stepped forward, and the crowd of 200 broke into a cheer.

ONE TIME RICHEST WOMAN IN U. S. DIES

New York, November 8.—Mrs. Mary Averell Harriman, financier and philanthropist, who became the richest woman in the United States in 1909, is dead.

The widow of E. H. Harriman, railroad financier and "Little Giant of Wall Street", succumbed last night in New York Hospital after an emergency operation. She was 81 years old.

When Harriman died in 1909 he left a 100-word will bequeathing his vast estate to his widow "absolutely and forever". Mrs. Harriman amazed Wall Street by the sagacity with which she administered it.

Harriman had had a fondness for 10 per cent investments coupled with a risk, but she preferred 5 per cent and safety. She withdrew from speculative enterprises and eventually created the Harriman National Bank.

The list of the philanthropic and scientific projects she set in motion would fill a column. The most famous was the gift of 10,000 acres and $1,000,000 for a State park in the mountainous region west of the Hudson River in the highlands. She was responsible for Bear Mountain Bridge, which crosses the Hudson to make the park more accessible.

"HIGHEST TEST"
at the price of ordinary gasoline

When an ad yells in fat black type that "Science says the so-and-so gasoline is the best"...

When testing laboratory reports are published which try to prove that the company paying for the tests has the only quality gasoline...

When charts are printed to convince drivers that they are foolish and wasting money unless they buy some one gasoline and no other...

Then there is only one comment which experienced motorists can make: "OH, YEAH?"

In our opinion, there are a number of good gasolines on the market. The products of the reputable refiners will all give good service. If the claims are just a bit strong and laid on rather heavy, remember that these are days of fierce competition in the gasoline industry.

The hard-boiled driver, the man from Missouri, and his wife who won't believe a word in the ads—we understand and appreciate exactly how they feel.

Their way of getting the truth about a motor fuel is to put it up to the motor. They try the gas. And if performance is improved, if special benefits develop—then they know their own minds and stick to the gasoline that develops most for their money.

More than 7,400,000 experienced drivers have already switched to Phillips 66... the greater gasoline. And as the days grow colder, there will be at least a million more.

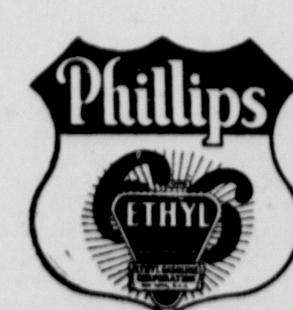

They will want that split-second starting in freezing weather, which loyal Phillips users are so proud of. They will demand all the other high test advantages so generously delivered by this amazing new motor fuel: quick warm-up... added power... smoother running... longer mileage.

Because of the marvelous things they have heard about it from their friends, they will expect something unusual and different in Phillips 66. And they will not be disappointed, because Phillips pioneered the principle of CONTROLLED VOLATILITY, which adjusts the "test" of the gasoline not merely to the season but to your weather, week by week and day by day.

They will not be disappointed, because Phillips 66 is made by the world's largest producer of natural high gravity gasoline. That is why its high test costs you nothing extra.

The colder the day on which you try your first tankful, the more impressed you will be by the tremendous winter advantages of "highest test" Phillips 66 gasoline.

But why take our word for it? Put it up to your motor. It plays no favorites. Fill-up with Phillips 66 tomorrow, at the Orange and Black 66 shield.

CHICAGO STOCK SHOW PLANS HUGE PROGRAM

Chicago.—Every moment of the eight big days of Chicago's mammoth live stock show, the International Live Stock Exposition, will be crowded with scores of events of interest, fascination and entertainment. Secretary-Manager B. H. Heide assures.

It will be held this year from November 26 to December 3, opening, as in past years, on the Saturday after Thanksgiving day in its permanent home at the entrance to the Chicago Stock Yards.

Railroads entering Chicago have indicated that special round trip low fares will be offered during the week of the Exposition. Low fares will be granted from nearly every part of the country, with rate reductions ranging all the way from a fare and a half for the round trip to a round trip for the price of a one way ticket. In addition, special week-end coach excursions will be offered to the Exposition at much greater fare reductions.

The big event of the opening day, Saturday, November 26, will be the Junior Live Stock Feeding Contest. Farm boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 20 years will be here from many States to exhibit baby bees, lambs and pigs of their own feeding and fitting, most of which have been State and County Fair prize winners this year.

Livestockmen from far and near will be at the ringside on Monday morning to watch Walter Biggar, of Dalbeattie, Scotland, begin his tremendous task of judging the steers, which for years have been the largest assembly of top notch beefs seen at any livestock show in the world.

From Monday to the close of the week, the huge International arena and judging rings will be the setting of parades of the monarchs of the American livestock world, each striving for a place on the prize lists of this climax of the year's live stock shows.

For the first time a full entertainment program will be given on Sunday, November 27. The man-

Sikeston 4-H Garden Club

The Sikeston 4-H Garden Club completed its year's work last Thursday night by holding a short achievement program before some of the friends and brother Boy Scouts, as each Club member was a Scout and sponsored by the Boy Scout Troop led by Arnold Roth.

The meeting was called to order by John Bowman, acting president of the Club. After conducting the final business meeting, Charles Yanson told how he had sprayed and dusted his garden to control insects. Franklin Struve gave the Club history of the organization of the Club, the work of the various members, their club tour, can trip to Irondale, visits made to the best gardens in the Lions Club Garden Contest. He told also of the profits made in having a garden. County Agent Fury awarded achievement pins to Charles Yanson, Franklin Struve, John Bowman and Raymond Tomey.

It is interesting to note the results of their garden record books and the returns from their small garden for the spring and early summer gardens only. They did not keep the records of the fall gardens. Raymond Tomey with a plot of 40x50 feet made a profit of $5.22 or at the rate of $109.62 per acre above cost. Charles Yanson with a plot 20x30 feet did some very intensive gardening on it with a net profit of $9.50 or at the rate of $684 per acre. Franklin Struve with a 50x75 foot plot made a profit of $8.77 per acre or at the rate of $96.47 per acre. John Bowman with a 25x50 foot plot made a total profit of $6.40 or at the rate of $224 per acre.

After the Garden Club meeting the boys held a discussion and decided to organize a Health and First Aid Club and are now perfecting this organization. This Club will fit into some of the requirements of the second class boy scouting work. Garden work qualified them for a merit badge in gadening.

The Preparation of Salads will be the topic of the last of a series of joint meetings of the Neighborhood Women's Clubs of Scott County, at New Hamburg Wednesday, November 23, at 2 p. m.

The Neighborhood Club of New Hamburg met last Friday and re-elected officers for 1933 as follows: President, Mrs. Fidelis Klipfey; Vice-President, Mrs. Chas. Schoen; Secretary, Miss Dorothy Hahn, reporter, Miss Lorene Buecher and Child Development Chairman, Miss Lucille Dirlberger. After the election of officers they decided to meet every two weeks and use sewing as the project for the meetings this winter. Loan envelopes on sewing were ordered from the College for each meeting until February. They also decided to organize a 4-H Clothing Club for the younger girls in the world.

agreement announces that both matinee and evening Horse Shows will be held on that day.

One of the big features of the Monday night Horse Show, November 28, will be a parade of 4-H Club boys and girls who will be here from 43 States. Spectacular auction sales of breeding cattle and the choicest of prime meat animals in the land will be held the closing days of the big show.

For the first time a full entertainment program will be given on Sunday, November 27. The man-

In eight counties a vote is to be taken November 8 to determine if the season should be closed on quail shooting for a two-year period. Game officials, however, point out that in the counties where a vote is to be taken the quail supply is above normal for the State and that a closed season would not assure sportsmen of increased crops in the future.

The Bleda Neighborhood Women's Club met with Mrs. T. L. Dohogne with Mrs. Louis Dohogne as leader on the topic of Christmas Gifts suggestions, some of the members brought Christmas gifts which they had made, to the meeting and explained how they made them. They also exchanged favorite recipes suitable for Christmas period. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Otto Schlitt with Mrs. T. L. Dohogne as leader.

The Head School Neighborhood Women's Club met and reorganized for 1933 with the following as officers: President, Mrs. Louis Albrecht; Secretary, Mrs. Wm. Roth; Reporter, Mrs. Herman Mustach; Game and Song Leader, Mrs. Oscar Roth; Child Development Chairman, Mrs. Jimmie Lee.

The election of Franklin Roosevelt should not be classed as a Democratic landslide but an uprising of the people. The President-elect should call together patriots of all parties, formulate some plan of action for general relief, then call a special session of Congress to take action. Miracles are not performed in modern times, therefore it will take time and courage for the wheels to get adjusted for the benefit of all alike.

There will be a general exodus from Jefferson City soon after January 1 when new State officers are sworn in. The L. D. Thompson's will probably find it mighty hard to make a living after having hold of the public teat for so many years.

The voting public doesn't seem to have a great deal of confidence or fear of fairy tales told during political campaigns. Eleventh hour stories usually have the opposite effect from what intended.

The morning after opened up clear and most of us had a good taste in our mouth. Those of the winning faith felt for the losers and were kind. Sore spots soon healed provided the wounds are not kept open.

It was a wonderful victory for the people and we hope they have sufficient patience to wait for the pendulum to come to a balance before they expect two chickens in every pot.

Considering the amount of spell-binding that was done by both parties up to the very dawn of election day, each must have felt that it was all over but the shouting.

The only testimonial not used by President Hoover during his campaign was that of Albert B. Fall, late Secretary of the Interior and later of the New Mexico penitentiary, who was at one time a cabinet member with Mr. Hoover.

Scott County ranks high up with the Democratic Counties of Missouri with a majority of about 4500. Considering this majority for President, Frank Van Horne, for sheriff on the Republican ticket, made a fine race as he was only defeated by about 2500. With normal conditions existing it would have taken a very strong candidate to have defeated him. This time it seems like any candidate anywhere on the Republican ticket went down in defeat.

If we had our say one of the first things we would do to bring back confidence and contentment would be to call a halt on foreclosures of farm homes. It usually takes a man a life time to improve a piece of land into a home and in his old age have it taken away from him for taxes is nothing less than a crime.

Are you ashamed of the part you took or the things you said in the late campaign, or are you proud of it and would do it again?

From certain sections of the country people have from time to time agitated the passing of a National Birth Control Bill, but to date it has not been acted upon. For one, we are against it for married couples, but strong for it for single couples.

The next big event on the calendar is Thanksgiving Day and some have more to be thankful for than others. The greatest thing to be thankful for is health, the next is for food and fuel. The political end of it should not be considered.

Charlie Henson had meat for breakfast Wednesday morning and is satisfied times are getting better already.

NATION AGREES WE NEED A NEW DEAL

Four years ago Hoover won over Smith by 444 to 87.

In popular votes, Roosevelt had a lead believed to be greatly in excess of the 6,500,000 by which Hoover topped Smith in 1928.

Except for rock ribbed Pennsylvania, where the Vare machine rolls up Republican votes as Tammany rolls up Democratic votes in New York, and the five smaller States named, the East joined the West, the North and the South in rejecting the President's appeal for vindication.

The story was told Tuesday night when New York State was shown to have gone for Roosevelt by a tremendous majority. That mortal blow to the President's hopes was followed quickly by the news that Ohio, Illinois and Indiana had broken from the Republican standard.

Missouri Lines Up

Bennett C. Clark for United States Senator on the incomplete returns was running somewhat behind Roosevelt, but was still in the 400,000 plurality class. On returns from nearly three-fourths of the precincts it appeared his plurality would be about 40,000 lower than that of the Presidential candidate.

Guy B. Park for Governor was trailing considerably behind Clark and Roosevelt. On the basis of returns reported it appeared that Park's plurality would be shown to be nearly 150,000 lower than Roosevelt's and nearly 100,000 lower than Clark's. Park suffered from the anti-boss opposition to him as the Boss Pendergast candidate.

The new State officers elected were:United States Senator, Bennett Champ Clark of St. Louis.
Governor—Guy B. Park of Platte City.Lieutenant-Governor—Frank G. Harris of Columbia.

Attorney-General—Roy McKittrick of Salisbury.

Judge of Supreme Court, Division No. 1—Charles T. Hays of Hannibal.

Judges of the Supreme Court, Division No. 2—Clarence A. Burney and Ernest M. Tipton, both of Kansas City.

Missouri elected the entire slate of 13 Democratic members of the House rolled into office with the Roosevelt ticket.

This will make the State's representation in the next Congress 13 Democratic members of the House, all elected at large, and one Democratic and one Republican Senator. Roscoe Patterson of Springfield, was elected to the Senate four years ago and his term extends two years from next March 4.

Eight present members of Congress are included among the 13 Democrats elected to the House of Representatives. All 13 are pledged to repeal of the eighteenth amendment and modification of the Volstead law.

Following are those elected, the first eight being the incumbent and the last five the new members:

John J. Cochran, St. Louis.
Clarence Cannon, Elsberry.

News of The Town

MRS. C. M. HARRIS, Phone 581

The W. B. A. Friendship Circle will hold its regular meeting next Friday, November 18, at the home of Miss Rebecca Pierce. This will be an all-day meeting and the time will be spent in quilting. The members met at the home of Mrs. Lige Inman, Wednesday afternoon, for the purpose of setting the quilt together. All members are invited to come next Friday for the day.

Rube Coleman and family are moving to the Marion Jewell property on William Street.

The W. M. U. of the First Baptist church held its business meeting at the home of Mrs. V. McDaniel, yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Hitchcock and daughter, Mary Ann, spent last Sunday afternoon in Charleston, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Chronn.

Mrs. J. H. Hayden is improving from a severe attack of tonsilitis.

Mrs. Ernest Tongate and Mrs. Roscoe Weltecke were Cape Girardeau visitors, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Campbell, Miss Effie Campbell and Clint Campbell visited at the P. J. Stearns home in Lilbourn, Wednesday evening.

Hubert Boyer went to St. Louis Wednesday night on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Val Mitchell and family of Malden spent Sunday here with Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Sharp. Mrs. Jennie Mitchell, who had been visiting Mr. Mitchell and family, returned to Sikeston with them.

Lola Carewe sat nervous and apprehensive amidst the contagious gaiety of her surroundings. Her escort, Vincent Rowland, seemingly unaware of her mood, was humming the gay tune the orchestra was playing, engrossed in the merry dancers who were continually swirling by. Lola Carewe had been foreboding that something was amiss. Ever since she first began receiving those notes she had been perturbed, but to-night she felt differently; she felt as though the thing she was constantly fearing was catching up with her. Her hands played uneasiness over objects on the table: a napkin, a paper-thin glass, everything that was in reach of the long tapering fingers which were twitching in obvious uneasiness. Oh, if there had only been a way she could have avoided coming here that night. But what was there to do? It was better than staying home looking at the walls, fearful of every shadow. It was better here under the glaring white lights of the night club. If there only weren't so many people here. But why shouldn't she want people here—didn't she own the night club? Wasn't it better for business that there were a lot of people? And, besides, wasn't it New Year's Eve?

Andre, her head waiter, approached holding a purse in his hand—her purse. He handed it to her in surprise.

"Where did you get it?" she asked in surprise.

"The taxicab driver. He says that you left it in his cab."

"Thanks, Andre."

Lola threw the bag on the table casually, then, as an afterthought, picked it up again and opened it.

The Commissioner picked up a photograph, said, "Who is this?" (posed by Mayo Methot and Adolphe Menjou)

She uttered a plainly audible gasp and gazed around her fearfully. Vincent Rowland, leaned towards her solicitously.

"Look!" she invited him, handing him the bag.

Rowland took the bag wonderingly, stared into it, his eyes widening in horror. Pasted on the interior of the purse was a slip of paper upon which were pasted words clipped from a newspaper. They read: YOUR TIME HAS COME. YOU CANNOT LIVE A MINUTE AFTER MIDNIGHT. "Take my advice, Lola, and report it to the police."

"Get me a drink, please."

"All right, if you insist upon acting like an idiot there's nothing—He started to rise.

"Where are you going?"

"I had some champagne sent over. I'll see if it has arrived."

Lola cupped her chin in her hands and sat staring into space. A voice started her.

"Your friend's right, Miss Carewe. It would be a bad idea to report it to the police. Sometimes we can be very helpful."

She recognized him, Thatcher Colt, the Police Commissioner.

"I don't know what your talking about," she said stiffly.

"Your life has been threatened, Miss Carewe," he went on. "A few minutes ago you received a warning. Apparently it wasn't the first one. I would like to speak with you to see the police about it. You refused. He's gone out to see about some champagne. Is that correct?"

She stared at him, aghast.

"How could you have heard?"

"I read your lips. Quite an accomplishment, lip reading. Don't you want to show me the message you received?"

She silently gave him the bag, pointing to the paper pasted on the mirror. Colt studied it momentarily.

"Have you any idea as to—" "No!" she broke in quickly.

Colt stared at her queerly for a moment, then held up her wrap. "Come on, Miss Carewe."

"Where to?"

"You're going home. This is no place for you. In a mob like this you're a wide open target."

They Say—Says The Man About Town

By ART L. WALLHAUSEN

T. A. Slack returned Wednesday from a business trip to Venita, Oklahoma.

Rev. Roy H. Kleiser, presiding elder of the Cape Girardeau district of Methodist churches, was in Sikeston Wednesday, where he presided over district pastors' meeting at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and a stewards meeting at 7:30 o'clock at night. At the pastors' meeting, the church work for the year was discussed and at the stewards' session financial opportunities were made.

The Ebert-Kreedy Missionary Society of the Methodist church observed the Week of Prayer services at the church Wednesday. This was an all-day meeting and a good program was given. Lunch was served at noon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Campbell, Clint and Effie Campbell and Clint Campbell visited at the P. J. Stearns home in Lilbourn, Wednesday evening.

Hubert Boyer went to St. Louis Wednesday night on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Val Mitchell and family of Malden spent Sunday here with Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Sharp. Mrs. Jennie Mitchell, who had been visiting Mr. Mitchell and family, returned to Sikeston with them.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Black of Oklahoma spent Tuesday night in Sikeston on their return from Indiana, where they had been attending a funeral. They report the rest of the family as being well.

Mrs. T. C. McClure and daughter, Eleanor, spent yesterday at Mt. Vernon, Ill.

At a business meeting of the T. E. L. Class held last week in its class room at the First Baptist church, plans were made for the bake sale the members will hold on Wednesday, November 23, at the Feltner Shoe Shop on North New Madrid Street. They will have for sale cakes, candy and dressed chickens. If you would like to place orders early for cakes, call 565.

Miss Kathleen Sells has resumed work at Southeast Missouri Hospital as anesthetist, after being gone about a year. She was connected with a Muskogee hospital for most of that time, but recently has been taking a vacation at her home in this city.

The men from headquarters were waiting when the Commissioner, Lola Carewe and Rowland arrived. Colt ordered the apartment and the surrounding roofs and terraces searched minutely. Lola was not allowed to enter any room alone.

Her companion was a young policewoman named Kelly. Thatcher Colt, returning from a painstaking inspection of a clothes closet, approached Lola.

"Who lives here with you, Miss Carewe?"

"My mother and Miss Quires—Christine Quires—a friend of mine."

"Where is her room?"

"In there," she pointed.

"She's gone to the Lion's Inn with Mr. Everett—you know, the actor."

"Guy Everett?"

"Yes."

"How many servants?"

"Two, a maid named Eunice and my butler, Mura."

Colt assigned a detective to each of the domestics.

"Is there any reason why I can't go home?" inquired Rowland as he came up.

"None," retorted Colt significantly. "But I'd rather you stayed if you don't mind."

He invited Lola into her bedroom.

"Tell me something about this man Rowland," he asked pointedly.

"Can you think of any reason why he should want to—well?"

Science To Show Electric Miracles at Chicago Fair

Chicago, November 9.—Science will bring its latest electrical miracles out of the laboratory—including wonders not yet born—to display before the thrill-seeking millions at A Century of Progress, Chicago's 1933 World's Fair, it has been disclosed.

A few of these miracles of modern science are:

The thyratron organ—size of a piano but combining the range, volume and musical quality of pipe organ and calliope.

The fever machine—wonder device for increasing temperatures at will in fighting disease.

Communication of sound over beams.

The sodium lamp.

Scores of other marvels, some of which have never before left the research laboratory, will receive their premier at Chicago's 1933 World's Fair.

Announcement was made by F. M. Gale, manager of conventions and exhibits, General Electric Co., who arrived from Schenectady to inspect the Electrical Building, in the circular hall of which his company has taken 9000 square feet of space. This is the largest allotment in any of the Exposition's own exhibit buildings.

Describes Fever Machine

According to Mr. Gale, the General Electric exhibit will represent an investment of some $500,000 and the employment of 350 people in its preparation. The "House of Magic," spectacular section of the research laboratories, will be brought from Schenectady, he said.

Raymond Hood, New York architect, who designed the Electrical Group, has also designed the General Electric exhibit setting.

"Lectures and demonstrations of the wonders of electrical science will be continuously presented to visitors," said Mr. Gale. "Discoveries and developments emanating from the research laboratories that speeded the progress of the electrical industry will be shown.

"In addition to the House of Magic, equipment will be installed to illustrate the application of electricity to transportation by land and water, to scores of industrial uses and to the home—including electric cookery, refrigeration and air conditioning.

"Another feature of the exhibit will be a display of apparatus for the generation and distribution of electricity to home and industry.

Dramatize Electrical Progress

"With a modern decorative background and spectacular lighting effects in keeping with the archi-ecture of A Century of Progress, the 1933 exhibit will be in such contrast to the General Electric display at the World's Columbian Exposition in 1893 as to truly dramatize the path of electrical progress.

Plans will be made accordingly, said Mr. Powell today, but definite announcement of the place and hour of the meeting could not be made at this time.

What Is ATHLETE'S FOOT

Over 30 Million Americans Now Have It—Is This Dreaded Disease Becoming a Plague?

Athlete's Foot is a fungus germ which appears on the feet in the form of a little yellow blister, especially between the toes. This disease is very contagious and is spreading with alarming rapidity among all classes of people.

The failure to successfully treat Athlete's Foot in the past has been largely due to the fact that these germs hibernate in the pores of the skin. When the skin is dry and dead, the germs are inactive.

Merit Foot Powder quickly eliminates excessive perspiration and itching of the toes. It heals irritation and is unsurpassed for healing and as a deodorant. Why suffer another day when this fast working treatment is positively guaranteed to overcome these distressing conditions or your money refunded.

Pig Clubs Popular

The success of the 4-H Pig Clubs at Canalou last year is resulting in increased interest in pig clubs this year in several parts of the county. Last year there was only one pig club in the county—the Junior Swine Growers at Canalou, with fifteen members. Two pig clubs have been organized for next year, one at Canalou with eighteen members and one at Parma with fifteen members. Four other groups of boys and girls have asked for the help of the County Extension Agent in forming pig clubs, namely at Kewanee, Coran, Portageville and another group at Parma. The Extension Agent is now trying to find pure bred pigs to supply the members of these last mentioned four groups. The members of the Canalou Pig Club are as follows: Leonard Kasinger, president; Melvin Lewis, vice-president; Eileen Noble, secretary; Bill Barney, reporter.

The Parma Pig Club is composed of the following members: Eileen Noble, Thelma Meys, Maggie Brown, Avery Greer, Zalton Allen, Tom Allen, Phillip Woffard, Everett Howard, Bill Nolan, Bill Barney, Henry Stoner, Melvin Lewis, Paul Norman, Virginia Powell, Marvin Parker.

These boys and girls met at the Parma auditorium Tuesday, October 25 and received their pigs which were supplied by the Cape Girardeau Teachers' College.

These members met and formed their permanent organization Wednesday, November 2 and elected the following officers:

Bill Nolan, president; Melvin Lewis, vice-president; Eileen Noble, secretary; Bill Barney, reporter.

NEW MADRID COUNTY SCHOOL NOTES

By Milus R. Davis

We are now preparing for a county-wide standardized testing program, for all schools that are not in first class high school districts, in which all pupils in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades will be admitted free. Some teachers want to bring their fourth grade pupils along too, but we will not be able to handle them this time. However, a few may be included—those whose classification are doubtful.

We will meet at Walnut Grove on November 15; Union Grove, November 16; La Forge, November 17; Point Pleasant, November 18; Portageville, November 19; York, November 22; Kendall, November 23; Fairview, November 30; Maple Grove, December 2; Parma, December 3; Conran, December 6; New Madrid, December 10.

The purpose of this program is to stimulate pupils to their maximum effort, and their rating will also throw light on their classification. For example, if some pupil seems to be out of place, we will recommend that they be given further tests by their teacher.

It is our desire that our schools be among the best in the State and all those interested in our schools should have a similar ambition. To achieve this goal we must be able to point with pride to the fitness and thoroughness of our graduates.

In order to produce well trained graduates who are able to cope with the business world, it is necessary to constantly check on their progress from grade to grade lest they become careless and try to "get by" without doing their work well.

Morehouse comes in sixth place with 100 per cent enrollments in the M. S. T. A. as follows: Supt. S. T. Clayton, V. P. Barker, Susie Spence Clayton, Laura Clayton, C. F. Cain, Mrs. C. F. Cain, Lillian Grossman, Helen Murray Davis, Ella Ruth Fletcher, Thelma Reynolds, Lucy Trowbridge, Hazel Wallace, Oliveen Crow, Fannie Blaylock, Orrel Greer Jones.

New enrollments from Lilburn, which completes 100 per cent from there, are: Elizabeth White, Milton Gehrs, Edna Drennan, Wanda Bowers, Corliss Jones, Julia Stoker, Mrs. Marion Pollock, W. B. Camp, Mildred LeSieur, Frieda Sickrey, Elizabeth Hammel, Lucille Nethery, Minnie Caudell.

New enrollments from Keweenaw are Thomas T. Ireland, Margaret Clymer, Gladys E. Myers, Vivian Hart, Bernice Barry, Lillian Anderson, Raxford Sloan. This brings Keweenaw up to 100 per cent.

Risco newly enrolled members in the M. S. T. A. are: Supt. Oren S. Liley, Earl D. Black, Reta Toomay, Charles Roome, Don J. Brewer, Iris Sheehan, Mary J. Frazelle, J. C. Edwards, Cecil Hines, Louanna Oliver, Vallie Patterson. Risco is nearing the 100 per cent mark.

Enrollments from Gideon are: Supt. L. B. Hoy, Louis A. Meyers, Eldridge P. Crow, Helen Kasten, Ruth Berry, Eugene Spickelman, Clifton Stuckman, Dwight Whitaker.

Late enrollments from our rural schools are: Lena A. Cochran, Oak Island; Lillian Goins McCoy, Scott; Estelle Smith, Hough; Flossie Wimp, Union Grove; Rosa Lee Howard, Bowman; Agatha Weakas Parks and Geraldine Hall, Wal-Mart Grove; John Seils and Arthur

Legionnaires of 14th District to Convene Here Friday

Hon. Jas. A. Fulbright, one of the best known speakers in the Fourteenth District, will be the principal speaker at the Legion Convention here Friday. He will address the assembled Legionnaires and members of the Auxiliary following the annual banquet in the Methodist church.

Local Legion men are of the opinion that the District meeting will attract from 2500 to 4000 members of the organization, Auxiliary representatives, and others interested in Legion activities.

Actual Legion business matters will be transacted in a short and snappy session Friday afternoon in the high school gymnasium immediately following drill exhibition by musical organizations, Chaffee, Poplar Bluff, Bloomfield and Perryville are expected to be represented by bands and bugle corps. Sikeston will have its outfit, and the Boy Scout drum and bugle corps tuned up for the occasion.

Visiting Legionnaires and members of the Auxiliary attending the 14th District Convention here Friday will find a first class football game on the program that night, with Perryville and Sikeston furnishing opposing teams.

Perryville needs no introduction here. The gridders from the hill country have walked away with every game on their schedule, trouncing Crystal City last week just as a matter of course.

Straight football is the main reliance of the Perryville power house attack, built around a center who tops the scales at 210 pounds.

Two backfield aces, both in the heavyweight class are reported to be not only large but plenty fast. In other words, the Bulldogs will have their hands full.

Sikeston on the other hand, has suffered only two defeats this season, one at the hands of Charleston and one last week administered by the New Madrid High School eleven. Two backfield regulars were on the bench during most of the game, and the plays would not click as they did against Dexter and Poplar Bluff.

Injuries have disappeared in the meantime, however, and Coach Mahew will present his full strength Friday night.

Young, Moll, Caldwell and Hunter or Carroll will start in the backfield positions, while the line will be at full strength.

Mahew is grooming his charges this week as never before for the last game on the home schedule. The team was disorganized last week during the New Madrid game, but should be able to hold Perryville fairly well in line.

COUNCIL TO MEET AGAIN MONDAY NIGHT

City Dads spent several hours in their regular monthly session last Monday night, but, according to the record, accomplished very little.

Routine reports and passing of expense items consumed an hour, after which several claims were heard. Roly McDonald appeared with a request asking for credit for his 1926-27 real estate taxes.

Mr. McDonald claims the tax bill was paid in 1927, but that he evidently failed to receive credit on the books of the collector. His receipts, he says, were destroyed in a fire. The Council will investigate the claims.

Mrs. Anna Ancell asked for a refund of the cost of a sanitary sewer leading from her home to the main line. No action was taken.

A representative of the Corless Well Company consumed many minutes explaining the relative merits of a straight and gravel ball well, but no action was taken on the proposed waterworks project.

Louis Ferrell will receive a refund of $2.00 representing an overpayment of 1932 cemetery taxes.

Finally the Council, with a national election staring them in the face on the 'morrow, adjourned to meet again Monday night, November 14, to discuss plans, specifications and bids for the construction of a ladies' and men's rest room in the City Hall.

There was a sheriff elected in Scott County in 1870 by the name of Joe Anderson. He was a Democrat. His record stands above reproach. Scott County elected another Joe Anderson sheriff last Tuesday. And how! His name is considerably besmirched, and his record rather badly bungled. He was accused of having unsavory connections (with Democrats), bootleggers, hoodlums, and so on.

The count shows that there are at least 2500 more 'leggers, hoodlums, roughnecks, etc., than decent, goody goodies, etc. Nevertheless, Anderson visited us today and repeated his campaign pledge. "I have made promises to no one, and to no party of men. When I go into office I will do my duty to the extent of my ability to keep Scott County clean. We believe Joe is sincere in his purpose. He will be watched by friends and foes alike, and we will be among the watchers with advice and counsel. We have no intention of hiding facts, or of distorting actions should they prove to be out of line with common derency and the common welfare. We do not believe, however, that there will be occasion to criticise. Joe has said he would be a sheriff of whom Scott County will be justly proud. Let's give the man a boost and assist him in carrying out that pledge. Co-operation can do more than constant bickering and petty fault finding.

Already a half a dozen patriots are seeking the postmaster at Sikeston. The present postmaster, W. E. Hollingsworth, has two years or more to serve before his commission expires and no charges can be brought against him, so our advice to these patriots is to go to work at something else.

Mrs. Anna Ancell asked for a refund of the cost of a sanitary sewer leading from her home to the main line. No action was taken.
